Base Ball.

All lovers of base ball should turn out Sunday afternoon to witness the game of ball between Paris and Cincinnati This will undoubtedly be the greatest game of the season. Only by the merest chance was Manager Thomas, of the Paris team, able to secure a game with the famous Cinclinatis, as Sunday will be an open date with this team. It will be a costly game for the local management, but having won four straight victories they decided to bring the cream of the profession here that local lovers of the National game could enjoy an afternoon pleasantly, and see a first class game of ball right here at There is plenty of shade and the breeze down the little valley is most enjoyable these warm days. Admission 25 cents, ladies free. Game called at 3 p. m. Go early and see the boys at practice.

JAPANESE REPULSED.

About Thirty Thousand Killed or Wounded by a Russian Mine.

Japanese Advance to Ta Tche Kiao Is Shrouded in Mystery, But It Does Not Cause Any Anxiety in St. Petersburg.

den, dated July 12, says:

here the Japanese last night attacked about the middle of November. positions near Port Arthur and were repulsed with enormous losses, not less than 30,000, it is said, being killed or wounded by our mines."

The Japanese advance to Ta Tche Kiao is shrouded in mystery. No telegrams have been received by the general staff or the admiralty since Lieut. Gen. St. Petersburg, July 14.—A special dispatch received from Mukden Wednesday night dated July 12, repeats has been thus accounted for. the story of a Japanese repulse at Port Arthur with the loss of 30,000. The dispatch says:

"News has been received from reliable sources that the Japanese third army on the night of July 11 attacked Port Arthur and was heavily defeated, an immense number being killed by Russian mines. The total loss is about 30,000." There was great interest throughout St. Petersburg all Wednesday evening for further details of the disaster. It has developed that the official report which was at first supposed to emanate directly from Viceroy Alexieff was not specifically fathered by him, but was given out as a report reaching his headquarters from "Japanese sources." What these sources are has not yet been explained. Possibly the A Heavy Order Was Delivered on the report was intercepted by wireless telegraphs but it is more likely that it came from the Russian consul at Che Foo or the Russian consul at Tien-

As a result of these two conferences Mr. Donnelly sent a communication to the packers in which it was stated that the unions were willing to accept a settlement through a board of arbitration. No reply is expected from the employers before Thursday, but it is confidently expected that their reply will be conciliatory because they offered to arbitrate the matters in dispute before the strike was called. PICNIC TRAIN WRECKED.

Twenty-One Persons Were Killed and About 70 Injured.

Chicago, July 14.-Twenty-one peoole were killed and about 70 injured Wednseday night in a collision on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad at Glenwood, 23 miles south of this city.

The collision occurred between a pienic train from this city which was returning from Momence, Ill., and a freight train into the rear end of which it dashed at a high rate of speed. The picnic train was on the right hand track coming north, and the freight was on the left track. A misplaced switch threw the picnic train over on the left track and before the engineer could apply the brakes it ran at 40 miles an hour into the rear of the freight. The engine, baggage car and first coach of the picnic train were demolished and all of the killed and injured were on the engine and in the two cars.

The train which was wrecked left the 31st street station Wednesday morning for Momence. The picnic was the annual outing of the members of Doremus church, formerly a chapel of Plymouth Congregational church, of this city. After spending the day on the picnic grounds at Momence, the train started on the return trip, running in as the second section of the regular passenger train, which is due in Chicago at 8:25.

When the picnic train reached Chieago Heights, four miles beyond Glenwood, where the accident took place, it was switched to the regular southbound track, and although it was coming north it was given a clear track by the operator at Chicago Heights until it should reach Glenwood, four miles away. The train after leaving Chicago Heights gradually increased its speed and when half the distance between the two stations had been covered it was plunging along at the rate of 40 miles an hour. Just half way between Chicago Heights and Glenwood there is a sharp curve, and as the picnic train tore around this on the south-bound track a freight train was backing from the south-bound to the north-bound track. It was partly on both tracks and no train could have passed it in either direction. The bend is so sharp that the engineer of the picnic train had no chance to see the freight before he was upon it. It was too late to do anything but set the airbrakes, but before they could take effect the passenger train smashed into the freight. The engine and baggage car of the passenger train went clear through the freight and were piled up in heaps of wreckage on the further side of the switch on which the freight was crossing from one track to the other. The first coach of the wreckage and buried itself in a mass of kindling wood under the de-Chicago, July 14.—Arbitration of the molished baggage car. Such Is the Sum the Tax Pavers Are Spending for the Indigent Classes-Where the Money Goes.

Home for Cure of Tuberculosis at Dun

Chicago.-Upon its needy of nearly two and one-half millions of people Cook county is expending each year practically a round million of dollars in various forms of charity. This is the contribution to the poor of the county government, and does not include the sums expended either by the city or by the various charitable organizations. Neither does it include the amounts expended year after year for buildings for the charitable institutions.

This vast sum of money goes to care for many classes of the indigent poor. It cares for the insane at Dunning; it heals the wounds of the afflicted at the Cook county hospital; it provides food for the hungry and coal for the cold through the medium of the county agent, and it buries the pauper dead.

From the standpoint of the sociological student there are few more interesting places than Dunning. Within the protecting walls of its many buildings hundreds of insane are cared for at ali times. To it the poor are sent, there to complete their allotted days surrounded by such necessities, if not luxuries, as the public can bestow. There one may find the representatives of all nations and all peoples. The latest addition to this remarkable institution is the hospital for indigent consumptives, built upon the most modern lines, with fresh air and sunshine to be had from every side. Within this building about 160 patients may be accommodated at one time. These patients come from the overcrowded and infected slums. They are the victims of the sweat shops and the dust-ridden factories. The sunlight and fresh air of Dunning gives to them their one chance for life. Here they are surrounded by such luxuries, provided at public expense, as they have not known

Cottages for the Insane at Dunning. More pitiful in their helplessness than the consumptives are the insane. Many of them with reason driven out by the all numerous. troubles that beset the poor of a large city, the, to them; unsolvable problem of providing food, clothing and shelter for families and self in the midst of competition that is both nerve and muscle wracking

Unlike the new conditions in the state prisons these poor demented souls are not left to think of their troubles. Such of them as are physically able to work are provided with tasks that come as a greater boon than shelter, food and clothing could possibly be alone. A spacious farm provides employment for the great majority of those able to work. On this farm is raised, by the help of these workers, much of the vegetables. that are needed for the tables, much of the feed for the cows and horses necessary to the maintenance of the place. For the workers a pleasant cottage of commodious size, 54x80 feet and two stories high, has been built. In addition to the employed farm hands, the truck gardener and his family, this building will accommodate about 45 of the mentally deficient workers. Within it are provided smoking rooms, lounging rooms, toilet rooms, living rooms and large air dormitories for the patients. Around it may be found all the evidences of farm life, chickens, hogs, cattle, barns and sheds. Both inside and out it is ideal for its purpose. Here the boon of work takes from the situation in which these unfortunates find themselves many of the terrors that would otherwise surround the very idea of being a public charge. The less fortunate, those whose troubles are so serious as to prevent them from working, are equally well provided for in pretty cottages, the surroundings of which are as ideal as the purpose for which they are used makes it possible to make them.

Cook County Hospital.

Imagine, if you can, a hospital in which more than 22,000 cases are treated the civil war. in a year, a hospital so large that its buildings cover four city blocks, and you have the Cook county hospital, located in the center of the West side of Chicago, and but a short distance from the largest ghetto district of the city.

The history of this great institution for the treatment of the poor is interesting, and in a way is illustrative of the

be said to date from 1866, when the county commissioners leased two wards in the city hospital, in which could be accommodated 12 patients. The beginning of the present series of buildings came in 1875, but little more than a quarter of a century ago, when two pavilions were erected. From that time to the present the institution has grown in size with remarkable speed. The latest buildings The Latter Dead When Found, But the to be added are one for the treatment of contagious diseases, and another for the care of children. In the former of these two 160 patients may be accommodated at one time, and in the latter 100 little tots may find opportunity to recover from their afflictions, assisted in the struggle by the best that medical science can offer. From its beginning in 1866. with accommodations for 12 patients, the hospital has grown to be one of the largest and best appointed institutions of its kind in the world. Feeding the Poor.

Hospital for Contagious Diseases, County Hospital.

Quite as interesting as either the institutions at Dunning or the Cook county hospital is what is called the out-door relief work of the county government, consisting of feeding, clothing and warming the poor who apply for assist- dent. ance of this kind. In this work $114,000 was expended in 1903, and the best method of illustrating what this means may be by quoting a few items from the report of the county's charity agent for Former Lingered Several Hours -Young Man Arrested and Held as a Suspect.

Newcastle, Ind., July 12.-Mrs. William Starbuck, the victim of Saturday night's criminal assault near Greensboro, died at 4 o'clock Monday morn-

Upon the return home of the woman's husband Saturday night he found his wife and little baby missing and the house in disorder, indicating that a struggle had taken place. He instituted a search and found his wife and child in an abandoned well near by. The infant was dead but the woman was still alive and hysterical and could give no account of what had happened. She soon lansed into unconsciousness and remained so until an hour before her death Monday morning. Bloodhounds were put on the trail of the murderers but without

HIS CAREER ENDED.

Golden Rule Jones, Mayor of Toledo, Passes Away.

Toledo, O., July 13.-Samuel M. Jones, "The Golden Rule Mayor," died at his home Tuesday evening as the result of a complication of diseases. The immediate cause of his death was an abscess on his lungs. When this abscess brike the mayor was not strong enough to throw off the poison from his system and death resulted. The mayor had suffered for years from asthma and this was the primary cause of his fatal illness. The death of Mayor Jones has caused the greatest sorrow all over the city. Although many did not believe in his ideas on sociological problems, everybody loved and respected him. His one great stronghold with the people of Toledo was his honesty.

The mayor was taken ill two weeks ago last Thursday and for the last 48 hours previous to his death, was in a comatose condition. He did not regain consciousness during that time. All the members of his family were at his bedside at the time of his death. He leaves a widow and three sons, Percy, Paul and Mason Jones. He will be succeeded as mayor by Robert

Finch, president of the city council. The remains of Mayor Jones will lie in state at Memorial hall on Thursday and Friday until noon and the funeral services will be held at the residence on Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The remains will rest on the veranda and the addresses will be made from the veranda. The lawns will be open to all. The pallbearers will be selected from his employes. Samuel Milton Jones, known all over America as "Golden Rule" Jones, was born in Wales in 1846. His parents came to America and settled in New York state when Mr. Jones was but three years old. Up to the time Mr. Jones was 16 years old he worked at anything he could find to do, during the summer, and attended school each winter for a few months.

In the spring of 1897 came his first introduction to political life. The republican party was split into three factions each with a candidate for mayor. At the convention two factions saw the necessity of uniting to prevent the third from winning out and Mr. Jones was selected as the man on whom both could unite, who would be strong enough with the workingmen. After a struggle in the convention Mr. Jones secured the nomination and in the election that fellowed was elected by a small plurality. His administration of the office, while honest and efficient, did not suit the different factions in the republican party, however, and when his term expired he was refused a renomination. Mr. Jones then appealed to the people as an independent candidate. In the election that followed he carried every precinct in the city but one and polled 70 per cent. of the entire vote cast. He was renominated in his favor, and he was elected for a Upon the request of William Star- third term by a handsome plurality. petition and with both a republican and a democratic candidate against him was elected again mayor of To-

ALEXANDER HAMILTON.

One Hundredth Anniversary of His Death Observed.

New York, July 13.-The 100th anniversary of the death of Alexander Hamilton was observed in this city Tuesday. A brief service was held at his tomb in Trinity churchyard. On the site of the Grange, his country house, on Washington Heights, more formal exercises were held under the auspices of a joint committee representing the Society of the Cincinnati, the Sons of the American Revolution and other patriotic and historical societies. The three surviving generations of the family were represented and several addresss were delivered. On July 12, 1804, just 100 years ago Tuesday, Alexander Hamilton, of New York, died from the effects of a bullet wound inflicted by Aaron Burr in a duel fought the day before.

It was handed to guest of her sister, Mrs. J W. Davis. Claude M. Thomas as a candidate for the chairman of the committee about noon yesterday, and it shows a nice state of affairs. We give it below-verbatim:

> Paris, K.Y., July 14, 1904. To the Building Committee of Bourbon County, Mr. J. Wm. Thomas, Jr., Chairman:

DEAR SIR:-Your attention has been called a number of times from the beginning of the foundation of your new Court port. House to the present time, that the supports of the girders that support the roof and tower at the North end of the building, at the Bank Row side, is not sufficient to carry the load that they are designed to carry, and our Mr. Gibson has talked to you a number of times on this subject and we have now arrived at the danger line. We have taken upon ourdropped dead at his home in Lylesville selves to have two eminent gentlemen of wide experience to examine these piers and girders, and they concur in the belief that if not re-inforced that that end of the building will fall to the ground and carry the tower with it. This part of the building is constructed according to your plans and specifications, with some additional bond stones placed there to distribute the weight and strengthen the piers, which you are familiar with, we find this not sufficient and we now notify you, that these piers must be protected, and as we have complied with our contract and you having failed to take action, or even notice of these weak places, we now serve you with this notice, calling your attention to the imminent danger that now exists and informing you that the responsibility of the preservation of this part of the building and damage and danger to life and body rest with you. And we in—M sist upon you having it examined and taking care of as it should be done.

We also wish to call your attention to the deflection of the big girders that span the court room, and will add that we have already said that they are not sufficient to Ashland Seminary at Versailles, has been the court room, and will add that we have them. comes to a question of beautiful clothes as displayed in the leading ateliers of the Rue de la Paix. It seems to me that neither English, French nor American women are in the least considering the cost of their best frocks, by which I mean the toilette de reception and the evening gown. They do, however, affect a delightfully chic simplicity in the wearing of linens and white serge for the mornings, but their evening toilettes are really splendid creations.

I will tell you now of a simple evening gown worn by a well-known debutante. It is composed of white silk muslin. gauged in at the waist, and finished down the front by quaint little ruches of white taffeta, a thicker ruching also appears at the feet, headed by a narrow border of pearl trimming. The bebe bodice is trimmed with ruchings of silk. and the decolletage is outlined with the pearl trimming, which rests on the neck. The sleeves are nothing more than early Victorian puffs, and round the waist is a very wide sash of Romaney blue satin.

There is, without doubt, a growing fancy for green in beautiful soft shades. Consequently emeralds are gaining in favor, and we also see other curious bright orange Paradis plume shading green stones. Jewels are mostly in Louis XV. settings, varied by wonderful oriental stones and very fine specimens of Italian enamel. We Parisians many of the newest models of tea gowns are sufficient witness to this.

SOME FANCIES IN WOOD.

Wood nuterackers, the handles carved in fanciful imitation of fruits, birds and animals, are utilized for wooden wedding gifts, says the Brooklyn Eagle.

The latest in souvenirs for wooden weddings is a wooden shoe, or, preferably, a pair of them. As a matter of fact, wooden shoes are acceptable gifts for den or bachelor apartment decorations at any time, and are used as whiskbroom holders. They are ornamented with pyrographic work, and their air of solidity appeals to the masculine sense of fitness. Whiskbrooms or flatbacked clothes brushes slip easily into ployed in this way, and such holders are a welcome relief from the ribbon-decked contrivances that are more of a success

"Knock down" furniture it is called by the trade. Its most general manifestation is in the form of cranes in various sizes and of weathered oak. Chains of different lengths depend from the arm of the crane and to these are attached steins, wooden keys and coffer cups and jugs.

"You must have a crane in the Dutch room or the den or on the porch, if you really want to be up to date," says a woman who knows. When it is inconvenient to have the crane arm project. ing it can by a simple process of manipulation be taken down altogether or swung close to the wall. This explains the designation "knock down."

Mottoes adorn the newest of the cranes. It is the thing nowadays to have a motto somewhere in evidence in the home. Not the old-time "God Bless Our Home," but something on the order of "It's Always Morning Somewhere in the World," "Well, Here's Hoping," "A Health to You," etc.

These mottoes are inscribed on hanging cellarets, on pipe racks and plate racks, as well as on cranes. For the Dutch room is a novelty in the form of book rack of weathered oak, surmounted by a windmill. An appropriate inscription etched with the pyrographic needle decorates one side.

Bluebeard keys the huge wooden door openers are termed, and a motto or phrase appears on some. The wooden shoes are likewise decorated. One pair bears the inscription: "No Steps Backward." Another inscription reads: "Don't Delay."

Plate racks of weathered oak are to be had in four tier effects, with hooks below for cups and pitchers.

A miniature hogshead of oak attached to a wicker framework for convenience in moving from place to place, makes a good water cooler. A faucet is attached to one end and there is the inevitable

Hand and at Small Expense.

An excellent way to utilize a last year's lace collar (the collar which came about to the shoulder-seam) is to use it as a trimming for one of your summery hats, says Woman's Home Companion. With a wreath of flowers and a last year's lace collar the prettiest sort of a hat can be made. Use a frame without much crown, and face it with shirred or plaited chiffon in some becoming shade. Gather the neck of the collar until it forms a tiny crown. Place on the frame, allowing about 11/2 inches to hang over. Tack securely, but loosely. Join the back as invisibly as possible. Surround the crown with a wreath of roses, forget-me-nots or any flower preferred, which will add width to the crown. Arrange the wreath so as to allow a spray of leaves to droop a trifle over the back of the hat, to conceal the joining of the collar.

Any of the soft sash-ribbons which are so charming this season will make a very dainty crown for a hat. The pompadour ribbons scattered with flowers are the prettiest for this purpose. The crown may be in the form of a tam-o'-shanter, or the ribbon may be put over a rather high-frame crown and shirred a trifle at the top. The brim may be of lace, or of tulle or chiffon matching the color of the flower seen in the ribbon.

Mistook the Motive.

An old man was sitting in the streetcar. In the aisle near him stood a young woman. He made a movement to rise as if to give her his seat. "Never mind, sir," said the young man, who stared and looked dazed. After two blocks more he again attempted to rise, but the young woman pushed him back, explaining politely: "I've stood so long now I don't mind it. Please keep your seat." "I say, young lady," cried the old man, in shrill irritation, "I want to git off! You've made me go half a mile past my street already."-Detroit News.

HARDY QUICK LUNCHERS.

Awful Ammunition with Which Some of Them Bombard Their Insatiable Interiors.

The manager of the quick-lunch palace shuddered, although the day was hot, and bestowed a gaze of mingled wonder and reproach upon the broad back of the man who had just picked up a number of dishes of food from the counter and was weaving his way through the crowd with them skillfully balanced in his two hands like a vaudeville juggler picking his way across a stage filled with tossed-up paraphernaia, relates the Washington Star.

"Say," hoarsely inquired the manager, "d'je see what that man took with him to eat?"

The man to whom the question was addressed had not noticed. "A bowl of milk, a dish of sliced cucumbers, two deviled crabs, and a piece of rhubarb pie," groaned the manager, feeling tentatively of the fourth buttor of his waistcoat.

"Just try and figure that out." he went on. "How would you like to try a combination like that - milk, cucumbers, crabs and pie? When that man first came in here-it was during the first bad hot spell of the season-and selected that assortment of dainties I passed him my Montmorency smile. "'Bet?' said I.

"He looked me over without a blink. "'Hey?' said he.

" 'You bet the man, I suppose,' said I, 'that you could beat him over the links by 2 up and 3 to play, and you didn't make good?"

Remarkable Cure of Dropsy by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sedgwick, Ark., July 11.—The case of W. S. Taylor's little son is looked upon by those interested in medical matters as one of the most wonderful on record. In this connection his father makes the following statement:

"Last September, my little boy had Dropsy; his feet and limbs were swollen to such an extent that he could not walk nor put his shoes on. The treatment that the doctors were giving him seemed to do him no good and two or three people said his days were short, even the doctors, two of the best in the country told me he would not get better. I stopped their medicine and at once sent for Dodd's Kidney Pills. I gave him three Pills a day, one morning, noon and night for eight days; at the end of the eighth day the swelling was all gone, but to give the medicine justice, I gave him eleven more Pills. I used thirty-five Pills in all and he was entirely cured. I consider your medicine saved my Cild's life. When the thirty-five Pills were given him, he could run, dance and sing, whereas before he was an invalid in his mother's arms from morning until night."
